Yoshie Iwasaki turns 101 years old

YOSHIE IWASAKI: her life has included a stint in an internment camp a family farm and a growing family

Longtime West Sacramento resident Yoshie Iwasaki recently turned 101 years old. She was born in the Bay Area and is a second generation Japanese-American ("Nisei") who is among the oldest living survivors of the 120,000 Japanese-Americans who were relocated by force to desolate internment camps during World War Two. Yoshie, who was a young wife and mother while interned in Tule Lake, California and Minidoka, Idaho, returned to West Sacramento after the war was over with her beloved husband, Nathan, and together they re-established their family farm and went on to raise three very successful children, Phyllis, Richard, and Jane, all of whom graduated from Clarksburg/Delta High School and the University of California.

Graced with inner strength and a warm smile, Yoshie has faced many hardships throughout her long and eventful life, including being threatened by eminent domain action back in the 1990s when West Sacramento's Washington Unified School District wanted to use her property to build a new high school. Her and her family's struggle to make sure their land wasn't taken away from them for a second time made national news and WUSD finally backed down. Years later, a mutually acceptable agreement between the Iwasaki family and the school district was reached and West Sacramento's new River City High School now sits on land once farmed by Nathan and Yoshie.

Yoshie has been very active in her community over the years, including being a Yolo County 4-H leader, tutoring English to Japanese-speaking students, and assisting in local elections. She has also done decades of volunteer work for her church as a participating member of the Sacramento Buddhist Church Women's Association.

Yoshie is the grandmother of Ryan, Keith, Julie and Lisa, and the great grandmother of Kelli, Emi and Miya.

News-Ledger on 'Facebook'

The News-Ledger is now on Facebook, the popular social networking website on the Internet.

Other users of Facebook can find the newspaper there by doing a search on Facebook for "West Sacramento News-Ledger."

Over 150 people have already signed up as "fans" in the first few weeks since the News-Ledger created a Facebook page.

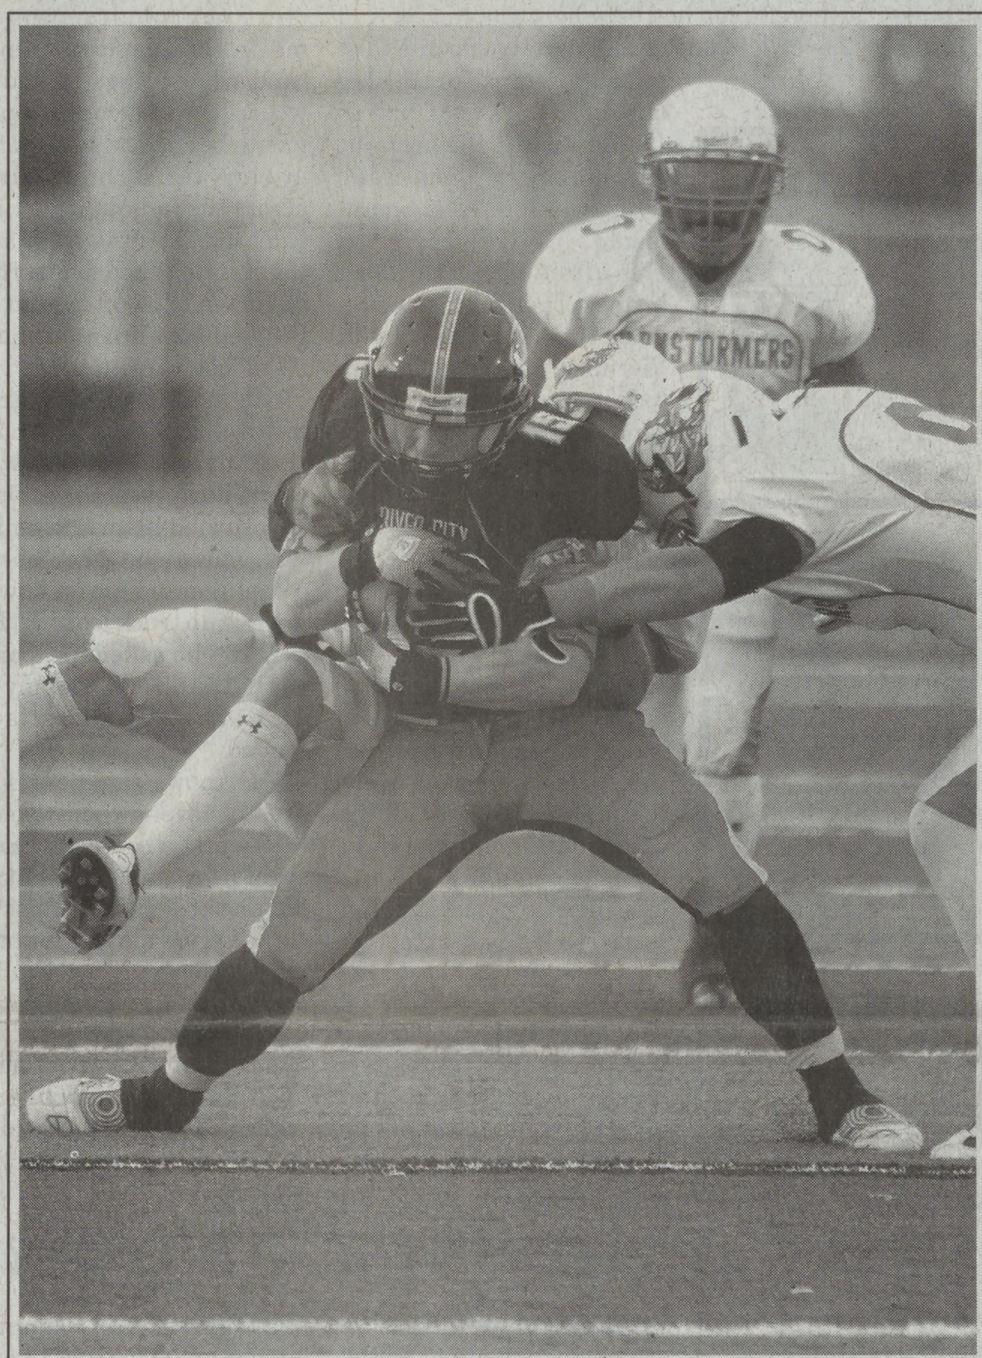

The Facebook page -- like the newspaper's website at www.news-ledger.com -- doesn't contain all the articles, ads and photos from the printed edition. To see all the news, you still have to subscribe to the newspaper.

But the Facebook page will serve as a link to some special features, such as photos that didn't make it into the print edition because of a lack of space.

For instance, you can visit the Facebook page of the News-Ledger to see additional pictures from the West Sacramento Community Day Parade held last October. Or see more photos of the "celebrity fashion show" at city hall held on March 31.

Tough game for Gators

The River City Gators -- West Sacramento's semi-pro football team -- easily won their first two games of the 2010 season. Not so easy was Saturday's game against the Central Coast Barnstormers at River City High School's stadium. See page 4.

Bilingual:

The bilingual education program at Westfield Village Elementary School may be phased out by a vote of school board members tomorrow.

The program has taught young students reading and math in Spanish, transitioning them to English by the end of third grade. It is designed largely to help Spanish-speakers learn English. Enrollment has been declining, said a Washington Unified School District staff report.

"In addition, there is little evidence that the program contributes to students acquiring the academic English language skills they need to succeed as they get older," said the report.

The report said there will be some "hard to quantify" cost savings from closing the program.

The proposal calls for phasing the bilingual education program out by not offering bilingual kindergarten next year, and then transitioning current kindergarten and first grade students in the program to English instruction by the end of the next school year.

Assaulted

Two employees of the Lowe's store helped break up an assault nearby on Monday night, reports Lt. Deanna Stevens of the West Sacramento Police Department.

Five men demanded property and the car keys from a victim in a vehicle, she said. The victim complied, but was attacked anyway. Two Lowe's employees intervened and were also hurt.

Five Sacramento-area men were stopped in a vehicle on US 50 near Harbor Blvd. and taken into custody on charges related to the incident. Their identities were not immediately released.

More than 250 fourth grade students from West Sacramento were able to learn more about recycling practices on an April 15 visit to the local recycle processing center.

In its fourth year, the one-day event has allowed nearly 1,000 West Sacramento students to tour the facility. In the field trip, sponsored by the City of West Sacramento, students are driven by bus to the recycle center where West Sacramento recycling is sorted. After arriving at the center, the students learn about the Yolo County Landfill. They also view bales of aluminum, paper and plastic, receive a demonstration on the process the recycle truck uses to collect and transport the recycling from West Sacramento and see a variety of products made from recycled material.

The students have a chance to view the apparatus and sort-line where materials are processed and readied for market. The goal is to give the kids a better understanding of the recycling process as well as samples of items made from recycled material.

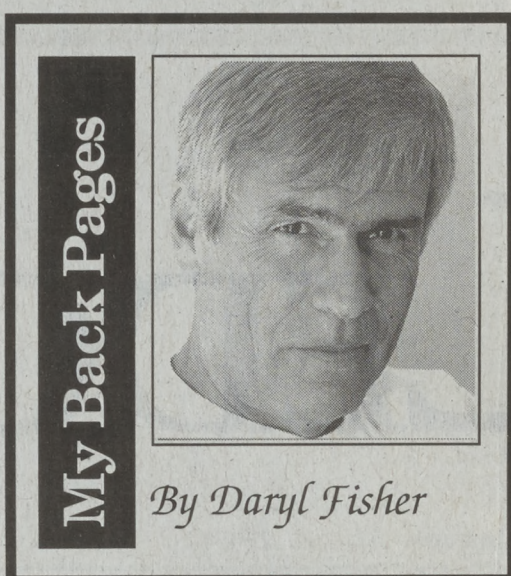

COURTESY OF THE CITY OF WEST SACRAMENTO

Going cruising with Louis

Editor's note: Daryl is off this week. Below is one of his favorite columns from the past.

Awhile back, I drove down to Oakland to talk to some wonderful people from the Epilepsy League of the East Bay, who were getting together to promote an annual charity event that raises much-needed funds for the thousands of Californians who suffer from that terrible disease. And as I turned off the freeway and motored towards downtown Oakland, I wasn't a bit surprised to find that the directions I had been given weren't doing me much good. In fact, within five minutes or so of exiting the freeway, I was completely lost. Now most people I know absolutely hate to get lost, especially in large cities, but I learned long ago to just relax and look at it as kind of an adventure that you wouldn't otherwise get to have.

For instance, once when I was lost in Los Angeles, I suddenly found myself right in front of the Richard M. Nixon Library, a place an old admirer of John and Bobby Kennedy like myself wouldn't normally seek out, but since I was already there, I decided to go inside and look around. It turned out to be a really interesting experience and the grounds also included the simple little house where Nixon had been born and raised. And I even had one of the friendly docents take my picture next to this big bust of Nixon's head just so I could irritate the heck out of some of my Democratic friends back in West Sacramento.

My Back Pages

By Daryl Fisher

I'm afraid I have this long history of getting lost. Once, when I was walking point in Vietnam, I got a whole platoon lost in a bunch of triple-canopy jungle and some of the guys were sure we had marched all the way to Cambodia and back before our lieutenant replaced me with someone who had a decent sense of direction. And once, when I was in Portland, Oregon and trying to get back to my apartment, I somehow ended up on a one-way street going the wrong way, much to the displeasure of all the Oregonians going the right way. So being lost in Oakland didn't seem like all that much of a big deal, except for all the funny looks I was starting to get.

Suddenly it dawned on me that I was in a completely black neighborhood, and judging from some of the hard and puzzled expressions on the faces of most of the men standing around on the street corners I was passing, no one was exactly thrilled with my little uninvited visit.

I turned off a street named Telegraph and then onto one with a number - 34th. But by the time I had reached the end of that dead end block, it was obvious that I needed to stop and ask someone for directions. So I pulled up in front of an elderly gentleman seated on the front stoop of an old rundown two-story Victorian-style house, got out of my truck, and strolled up to the old man. He had a golf club in one hand and was busy turning the dial of a beat-up old battery-operated radio with the other.

"Excuse me," I said as he looked down at me like I had just landed from Mars, "but could you please tell me how I could go about finding downtown Oakland?"

He smiled warmly and motioned for me to take a seat next to him on the stoop. "What's your name, sonny?" he asked me.

"Daryl," I said, sitting down next to him.

He stuck out an ancient hand and patted me on the shoulder. "I'm Louis," he said, "and what brings you to this neck of the woods?" And before I could even open my mouth he suddenly waved for me to hold onto my answer as he apparently had come across the radio station he had been trying to locate. "You know," he added after he had the station tuned in just the way he wanted it, "it ain't too often that a white boy like yourself pops up in this neighborhood."

"I'm lost," I explained.

"Oh, really?" he said, grinning from ear-to-ear and trying hard not to laugh. "Now is that right? You know, I don't think I would have guessed that in a million years."

I returned his warm smile and he looked out towards the street and then complimented me on how shiny and clean my pickup truck looked. "That's brand new, isn't it?" he asked me, pointing a bony finger in the direction of my truck.

"It's actually almost a year old," I answered.

"You know," said Louis with suddenly sad eyes, "I never owned a new car in my whole life - just a couple of really old ones that spent more time up on blocks than they ever did on the road. So I mostly used the bus. Anyway, it's too late for me now. I got cataracts in both my eyes and couldn't drive a pretty new car even if I wanted to. I'm 76-years old, you know."

As my minutes with Louis started to add up to almost an hour, it became obvious that he wasn't in any particular hurry to pass out directions to me, but he was incredibly knowledgeable on just about every other subject under the sun and seemed to be genuinely pleased to have a captive audience. And I learned, among numerous other things, that Louis was a retired preacher, a decorated World War Two veteran, and could have probably been the lightweight champion of the world if he had only had a decent manager. He also told me how proud he was to finally own his own home free and clear and that he was worried that his property value was going to start going down if the cops didn't stop finding dead bodies every morning in the little park right across the street from him.

I learned, among numerous other things, that Louis was a retired preacher, a decorated World War Two veteran, and could have probably been the lightweight champion of the world if he had only had a decent manager.

"What people need around here is jobs," explained Louis with passion. "Do you realize that almost no one in this whole neighborhood has a real job? There just ain't any. All these poor young kids really need is a decent job. They're not all bad, you know. In my day, at least there was work for a man to do."

"Louis," I finally said, "I'm really late for an appointment in downtown Oakland. You got any idea how I can get there?"

"Well," he answered with a mischievous smile that showed off the fact that through the years he had lost most of his teeth, "I guess that would all depend."

"On what?"

"Well," said Louis, "Now I ain't much good at explaining how to get from one place to another, but I could probably get you there, you know, if I was to ride along with you in that fancy new pickup truck of yours."

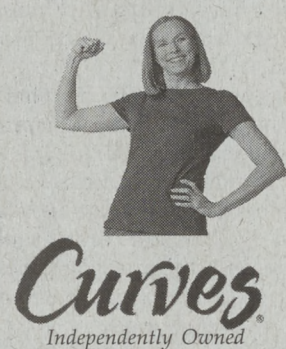

With the sun starting to go down, I took a long look over at the park across the street where they kept finding all those dead bodies every morning and said, "Louis, you got yourself a deal!"

SPORTS INSIDER

By Richard Novoa

The NFL has turned the 2010 draft into a three-day media circus starting on Thursday (7 p.m.-ESPN) with the first round draft and ending on Saturday morning with the final round of college players and his family members sitting at home on the edge of their seats waiting for the opportunity of a lifetime.

The Oakland Raiders again will be positioned eighth in the draft with the unpredictable owner Al Davis still stinging from his suspect pick of wide receiver Darrius Heyward-Bey last year. Da Raiders need help at every position so hopefully Big Al doesn't mess this one up and picks the best available athlete.

The 49ers made a trade with Miami last week giving up a fifth round pick for former kick returner Ted Ginn Jr. Ginn (5-11, 180) was a first-round selection by the Miami Dolphins in the 2007 NFL Draft. This year the Niners are sitting in a great spot with two first round picks at 13th and 17th.

The St. Louis Rams will select first and probably take the injured quarterback Sam Bradford followed by Detroit, Tampa Bay, Washington, Kansas City, Seattle and Cleveland will pick seventh right before Big Al and Da Raiders, that's barring any trades.

NBA Playoffs

The 2010 playoffs started after 1,230 regular season games and the only thing that is a sure bet is the fact the Kings don't have a chance to win the NBA Championship but you know the Lakers and Cavs are on a collision course for the Larry O'Brien Trophy.

There are only 16 teams left in the hunt and it will take 16 wins in the playoffs to win the NBA title. In the Western Conference the Lakers will handle Oklahoma City in five games but the other three series could be fun to watch.

I like Dallas to outlast the aging Spurs in six games and Denver should take care of Utah in five but it will take Phoenix all seven games to get by the young guns of Portland but if there is an upset in the division it will be in the Portland series.

The Eastern Conference will be bullied by the Cavs who should sweep the Bulls and Orlando will take six to get by the Bobcats and Atlanta will fly over the Bucks in five but Boston will have to dig deep to push by Dwayne Wade and the Heat.

Diamond Notes

The Giants (8-5) quick start has cooled down lately and the G-Men are back to their usual self of great pitching and no hitting in the middle of the line-up. The Dodgers took two of three last weekend and now the Giants visit San Diego for a three game series before they Giants return to AT&T Park on Friday for a three game series against the St. Louis Cardinals.

On a serious note Giants outfielder Aaron Rowand avoided surgery to repair the three fractures on the left side of his face. Rowand was beamed by Dodgers pitcher Vicente Padilla and will out for a few weeks before he resume baseball activities.

The Oakland A's (9-5) are still hanging on to first place with the "Boys in Pinstripes"

From River City H.S.

A 7 to 2 setback at West Campus last week has dropped the River City High School Tennis Team into second place in the Capital Valley Conference (CVC). The host Warriors ended the week 11-1 in the CVC, while the Raiders find themselves at 8-2 after bouncing back to defeat Antelope on Thursday, 8 to 1. Incredibly, it's the first time since 1995 that RC has lost more than one league match in a season.

"It's not a spot we're used to around here," said Raider Coach Dave Brooks, "but we've hopefully learned from this loss, and now we'll try to win our final six CVC matches and hope somebody else can knock off West Campus so we can tie them. Of course, only half of that equation is within our control."

RC defeated West Campus 5 to 4 back in mid-March, but this time the Raiders could only muster wins at #2 girls singles, where Ranika Prasad prevailed, and in mixed doubles, where Monica Anaya and Trevor Langford won.

River Cats

The Cats (7-5) lost their home opener on Friday night before a sold out crowd on a beautiful night at Raley Field. The Cats have added many new attractions for the fans to enjoy this year to go along with some great baseball action. The Gatos will have a new VIP seating options and bigger video screen to watch and new food offerings to choose from as the team starts its 11th season.

The River Cats added a new high-definition video board is 60 percent larger than the one it replaced, at 800 square feet. The Cats also added a Diamond Club which is a new VIP seating section behind home plate that offers all-you-can-eat in-seat concessions services as well as more leg room and a built-in counter.

The team has decided to make its Kids Eat Free every Tuesday Night with Kids 12 and under who attend a Tuesday night game will receive a meal voucher

The Gatos will be home this week hosting the Portland Beavers who have three former Cats on their roster. Outfielder Chris Denorfia and Aaron Cunningham and catcher Ryan Webb will be wearing Beaver uniforms when they take the field on Tuesday night.

Local Sports Updates

The River City Gators (3-0) rolled on to another win beating the Central Coast Barnstormers 35-21. Going into halftime, the Gators were up 21-14, but in the second-half the Gators pulled away, finishing the game with a 35-21 win. The Gators travel next week to Marin to play the Bulldogs.

The Sacramento Gold (2-1) traveled to Sonoma on Saturday night to play the NPSL defending champion Sonoma Sol and came away with a 4-2 win to move into second place in the Northwest Division. The Gold led 1-0 at halftime but had to weather a furious comeback by the defending champs and fight back from a 2-1 deficit to score two goals in the closing minutes to ruin the Sol's home opener.

The Gold next home game is a "Cinco de Mayo" celebration on Sunday, May 9th (5 p.m.) against the division leading Real San Jose at River City High School.

WASHINGTON SOCIETY NOTES

The Sacramento river registered 22 feet 1 inch U. S. gauge at the Southern Pacific bridge yesterday. This is a fall of 3 inches from last week's gauge, but a material increase may be expected during the next few days. Following the cool spell of the past week with a small precipitation there should come a real warm spell that will hurry the snow off the foothills to join in raising the river gauge.

Local fishermen are still resting on their oars because the usual spring run of fish has not shown up. This, they claim, is due to the extreme high water in the river and the coldness of the stream coming, as it does, from the mountain snows of the Sierras. If a "run" of salmon reaches here before the season closes there will be a supply such as was never seen in this locality.

Local anglers are landing some nice catches of bass and cat in the dredger cut outside the western levee of the West Sacramento Co. at the eastern end of the Yolo Causeway. Those who tried last Sunday were rewarded with some nice strings of fish, but tempting bait is necessary.

Postmaster Bennetts is expected home from Santa Cruz Saturday or Sunday. He has been attending the State Convention of Odd Fellows at the seashore and from word received by his family he must be having some time.

Grass has been growing in the jail yard of Washington for many months and even invaded the flooring of the local calaboose. The jail has become so dilapidated that it is scarcely fit for habitation, but since there are no prisoners there is no necessity for a jail. A few dope fiends are arrested and jailed periodically but any kind of a jail would hold these poor wrecks. During the past week George Turner has been putting a new roof on the jail, not so much to keep out the wet but to protect any inmates from the hot sun of the dry season. Turner made a splendid job of the reconstruction and is being highly complimented by his friends around town.

Last Wednesday evening at 5:15 p. m. an itinerant with a roll of blankets dropped dead on the Southern Pacific bridge just a short distance from the top of the incline. His remains were taken in charge by Constable Buckingham and turned over to the coroner of Yolo County. No marks of identification were found on the person of the deceased and only a few pennies were found in the pockets. He was evidently on his way to Sacramento for medical attention. The body was taken to Woodland for burial.

Firemen of Bryte are busy preparing for a grand ball that will be held June 10th. The object is to raise funds to help out the department and purchase more fire-fighting apparatus which is badly needed. A meeting will be held in the public school building this evening to make final arrangements for the dance. Tickets for the dance may be had now costing only 50 cents per couple.

Beginning on Sunday, May 21st, Rev. Father Laffan will celebrate Mass at Bryte every Sunday at 8 a. m., instead of 10 o'clock. This will be done to accommodate many who cannot attend Mass at 10 o'clock and who must otherwise be deprived of the privilege. Then again Father Laffan recognizes that many home owners who work all week must attend to little chores around their homes, and it is to avoid this during the summer season that he has named an earlier hour for services. Mass will be said in Washington as usual, that is 9 a. m., after which there will be religious instruction for the children. At the church in West Sacramento, Father Laffan will say Mass every Saturday morning at 9:30 a. m., after which he will instruct the children of the district in their religious duties. Religious instruction will be given the children at Bryte every Saturday afternoon at 3 p. m.

Antone Silveira is confined in a Sacramento hospital and is about to undergo a serious operation. He is threatened with serious abdominal trouble.

Last Wednesday Father Horgan of Woodland with Father Connors, his assistant, paid a friendly visit with Father Laffan for a few hours of the afternoon.

Many costumes of the Days of '49 are to be worn tomorrow night at the dance of the Parent-Teacher Association. Posters advertising the dance were made by pupils of the school and tickets were printed on the typewriter by the principal and teachers.

Mr. and Mrs. James L. Clifton, Mr. and Mrs. H. M. Eugene and Mr. and Mrs. John Johnson returned from a short stay in San Francisco where they were present at the annual banquet given by the Southern Pacific Company to its pensioners.

Mrs. H. Jasper of Wheatland is visiting relatives in Washington.

Ben Moss has returned from a vacation at Richardson's Springs.

Mrs. Vincent De Riso has gone to Oakland for a visit with relatives.

Edwin Phillips has gone to Oregon for a short business trip.

Rev. and Mrs. R. N. Rowe of Los Gatos were visitors last Monday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. M. Cameron, on their way to Chico where they will attend the State Baptist Convention.

Mrs. F. De Riso and Mrs. A. A. Dassonville went to Woodland last Tuesday on business.

Pupils of the Washington School are raising a large quantity of sweet

SCHOOL PUPILS ASK POPULAR SUPPORT FOR CLOSING EXERCISES

Children of the Washington public school are busily disposing of tickets for an entertainment that will be given this evening in the school building.

The purpose of this entertainment and dance is to raise funds to procure necessary equipment for the school closing exercises on June 16th.

In framing this dance and entertainment no expense has been incurred so that any proceeds obtained will be all used for the single purpose just mentioned.

As a part of the closing exercises there will be a picnic for all the children at some shady grove or park in the surrounding territory. This will be the cause of most expense and any amount paid in now will be helping this worthy object.

Parents and friends of the pupils are backing the efforts of the children to make tonight's dance a huge success.

The Harmony Five will render the music for the dance.

SUNDAY, MOTHERS' DAY, WILL FILL LOCAL CHURCH

By proclamation of Governor Stephens next Sunday has been specified as "Mothers Day."

It means that all men will do something out of the ordinary for their mothers, but should it happen those mothers have gone to their reward, there will be some special remembrance to remind men that their "best friend" has gone beyond.

For this reason Rev. Father Wm. Laffan will celebrate Mass at 9 a. m. for the mothers of all men who attend the service in the Church of Our Lady of the Blessed Sacrament in Washington.

As a special mark of appreciation the Knights of Columbus have asked their members to attend this Mass and a great crowd is coming from Sacramento for the occasion.

The church choir will be augmented for the occasion and all local people will be provided with seats in the church before the visitors will take seats.

WILL VISIT HIS OLD HOME IN ITALY

James Chiorini, manager of the Sacramento Laundry, was tendered a farewell dinner last Saturday noon by his partners in business and the employees of the laundry.

"Jim," as he is familiarly known, has been manager of the laundry for many years and, while under his guidance and direction it became a paying institution.

Chiorini is about to visit his native country where his wife and children are now located. With them he will tour nearly all the countries of Europe, returning to Sacramento early next fall.

peas to use for decorating graves on Memorial Day. Planting has been done on the school grounds and in the home gardens of the children. Many of the seeds were supplied through the office of the Independent through the courtesy of Senator Shortridge.

The pupils of St. Joseph's Academy in Sacramento held a picnic last Saturday in the grove at West Sacramento. They were accompanied by the Sisters of Mercy and a very enjoyable outing was had by all who attended.

The highest enrollment for the school year was reached in April by the Washington School, when there were 245 pupils in attendance. Of this number twenty-five are from West Sacramento and Carly Acres.

William Cook and family, formerly of Eureka, are now making their home in Washington.

Wilbur Moss of Grass Valley was a week-end visitor at the Steinbaugh home.

Tom Dupzyk is confined to his home by a sprained ankle.

The date of the closing of the Washington School has been set by the Trustees for June 16th. During the Days of '49 week Tuesday and Friday will be holidays for the pupils of the school.

Miss Esther Mast, teacher in the Washington School, has been granted a leave of absence for the remainder of the school term to make a European trip of several weeks. In company with three other Woodland women she will attend the Passion Play in Oberammergau.

Mrs. O. P. Cook returned from a visit with relatives in Roseville last Friday.

Charles Clifton has returned from a visit in Oakland and Vallejo.

At the Remfree home in Riverbank Mrs. J. Breidenbach of San Francisco has been a visitor during the past week. Last Tuesday evening she was joined by her daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Chas. W. Ward, proprietors of the Hotel Dalt and Dr. Chas. Bridges. Yesterday they all returned to San Francisco by auto.

WASHINGTON WILL BE IN '49 PARADE 100 PER CENT

At a public meeting held in the town hall last Monday night it was unanimously decided that Washington would be represented in the '49 parade in Sacramento by something out of the ordinary.

The meeting was held at the request of the '49 committee of Sacramento and Mrs. A. A. Dassonville and Mrs. Belle Porter Davis made the arrangements.

At the meeting last Monday it was decided that the ladies of the town would decorate and enter a float in the parade.

The nature of that float is to be held a secret till the day of the parade.

In a few days another meeting will be held to decide on final arrangements to which all ladies of the town are invited.

The sentiment expressed last Monday night was unanimous that Sacramento should have the undivided support of Washington in this great celebration.

SUPERVISORS ASK BIDS FOR ROAD BUILDING IN WASHINGTON

Woodland, May 10.—The board of supervisors yesterday adopted the plans and specifications for three pieces of highway in the county, and ordered advertisement for bids for the same.

The first is prefix 6, section B, being 2263 feet in the town of Washington connecting the State highway with the Southern Pacific bridge. The plan shows wide turns around the present corners, which have been a menace for years.

The second is prefix 8, section A, and is the extension of Main street for one mile east; and the third is prefix 6, section C, being 21,890 feet along the meanderings of the Sacramento river from the Sacramento by-pass bridge, running west.

Bids for all this work will be opened on Monday, May 29, at 10 o'clock at the board rooms in the court house.

DOPE IS REPLACING BEER FOR MANY MEN WHO HATE PROHIBITION

That many men are being ruined beyond redemption by prohibition has often been asserted but seldom was that assertion more forcibly exemplified than during the past week in this section of Yolo County.

Laws have been framed to prevent men from using drugs. But drugs are being used.

Laws exist that pretend to prevent men from using intoxicants. But intoxicants are being used.

Last Wednesday morning at 1:15 a. m., Constable Buckingham found visitors going to the laundry of Wong Men on Third street. He watched them. He knew them to be users of dope. He bribed one.

The latter went to the laundry with a marked bill and just as the Chinaman was changing morphine for money Buckingham landed in the middle of the floor.

He confiscated $400.00 worth of the drug. Besides Wong Men, V. Carmichael and Harry Gent were placed under arrest.

Wednesday morning Judge Barry fined the Chinaman $200.00 and sent the two drug users to jail in Woodland for 30 days each.

On the way to Woodland Buckingham picked up another drug peddler at the Fifth street subway on the State highway. He was returned to Judge Barry's court where he was sentenced to serve 90 days in the county jail. He gave his name as John Deets.

Prohibition is driving thousands of workmen to the use of drugs who formerly drank wine, beer or whiskey as stimulants to tired nature.

WELCOME THEATRE HELD UP BY WHISKERINOS

Last Friday night forty people from the Whiskers Club and Women's Bureau dressed in '49 costume raided the Welcome Theatre and gave an old-fashioned program before the 200 people present in the show-house. The following program was presented: Dance by Agnes Steen; reading by Audine Wilson; dance by Belvarine Steen; reading by Davis Trenchard; song by Jessie McCloud; address by David Gally; dance by Viola Steen; reading by Shurette Steen; jig by Virgil and Gordon Steen; address by Emerson Reed; address by D. J. Nunley, and a reading by Lillian Filmer.

The Mayor of Buffalo must stand trial on a charge against him for brewing real beer.

He ought to be elected to Congress of the United States Senate.

NEWS-LEDGER EDITORIAL:

Sharing the pain at WUSD

Washington Unified School District is poised this week to cut another $3.2 million from its budget. The school district — like other public districts in the state — is suffering from the economy in general, and from the state government's revenue shortfalls in particular.

In a budget divided into "restricted" money and "unrestricted" money, teachers' union contracts, administrators' contracts, and staff contracts, it's not always easy to make these cuts where they should be made. Some things you can't touch. Other things can't be touched without a successful renegotiation.

One piece of illogic still stands out, though.

When times were good just a few years ago, WUSD gave significant pay raises to a number of administrative positions. The argument was that if the local district didn't offer "competitive" pay, its valuable top brass would leave in droves. Or the best people would never seek to work here in the first place.

Now, times aren't good anymore. But the high pay remains.

Last year, in response to the growing crisis, WUSD administrators offered to voluntarily take three days per year of "furlough": leave without pay. One WUSD rep told the News-Ledger that the furloughs would amount to a pay cut of between 1.25 percent and 1.75 percent for these individuals.

The offer was generous. But, proportionately, it just isn't enough. Administrators shouldn't earn, during this fiscal crisis, 98 or 99 percent of what they earned during the boom times, at the same time the district they serve is looking to cut, for example, a dozen classroom paraeducators and a number of sports opportunities for middle school kids.

WUSD needs to find a way to share the pain more equitably. There also has to be a better way to design administrative salary contracts in the future that would allow the district some flexibility in a genuine fiscal crisis.

Local activists have earned another reprieve for the old Bryte Post Office on Lisbon Avenue. The neighborhood post office again found itself under scrutiny by the U.S. Postal Service, which stands to save a few bucks by closing the branch.

The Bryte & Broderick Community Action Network, with support from Congressman Thompson, has steered the budget knife away. The office will stay open, at least for now. Its fans say the branch is needed to serve the Bryte neighborhood, many of whom are elderly, or don't drive, or don't speak English well, and need some of the services that a local post office branch provides. The annex provides its neighbors with a level of service that most of the city (for example, Southport) doesn't receive.

As for the branch's long-term future? Who knows.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Saving Bryte P.O.

This is an open letter of appreciation to Congressman Mike Thompson and his District Representative, Elly Fairclough.

Thank you both for all of your help and efforts to keep our little branch, the Bryte Postal Annex, open and, hopefully safe from closure. Especially, Congressman, your Congressional letter to the postal service expressing your congressional desire to keep it open. And Elly, for your taking some time out of your weekend to attend one of our "Meet Up's" and bringing it to the congressman's attention.

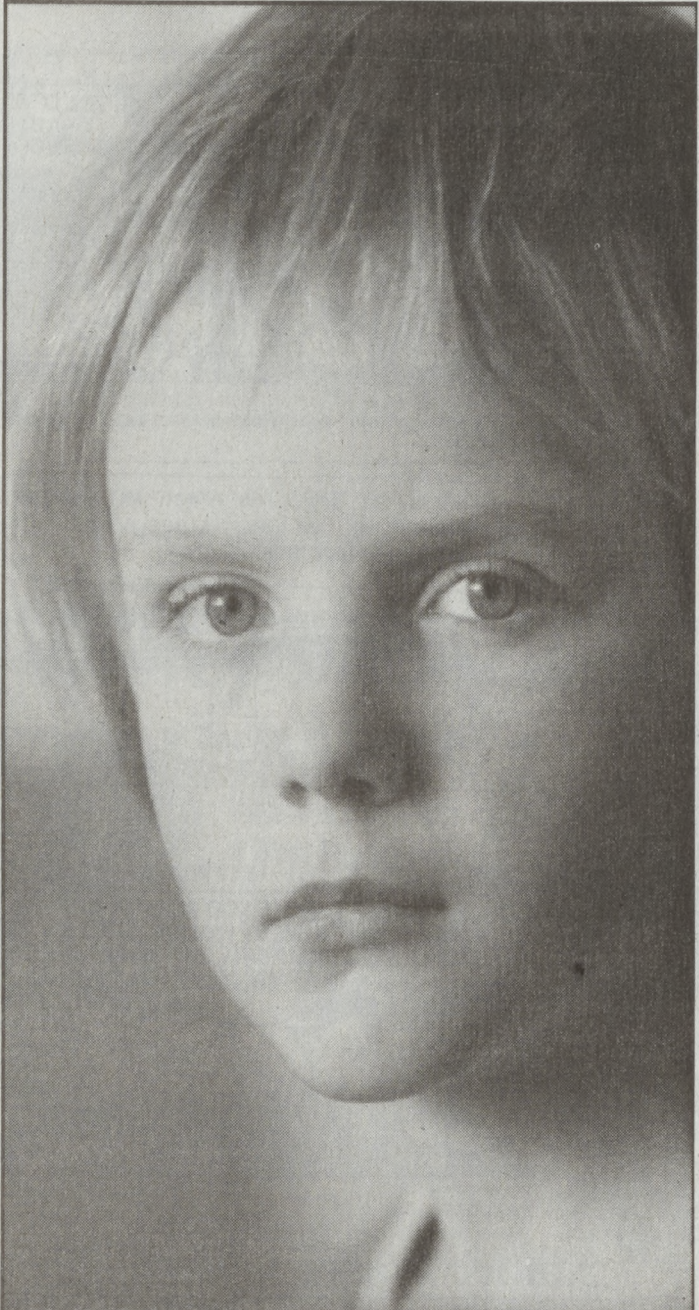

We in this community as a whole, and Bryte and Broderick in particular, are really appreciative of everything you've both done thus far. The City has directed a Letter of Appreciation be drafted, et cetera, and I'm certain that others will join in as well. I would also like to express my great appreciation to my community action group, the Bryte and Broderick Community Action Network for all of the help, petition creating and gathering, publishing, etc. that they have been doing on our community's behalf in this and other matters for so long.

However, as BBCAN's "Curmudgeon Emeritus", I must voice a note of caution. Ronaldus Magnus (Ronald Reagan) used to quote a Russian Proverb: "Trust, but verify", and with a reason. The postal service's information gathering of the community's input has been concluded and they've made their recommendation to the USPS headquarters in DC. That means (since they've "kicked the Can Upstairs") we're not out of the woods yet.

If the postal Service does honor Rep. Thompson's recommendation, I, and the rest of our community would like to see the postal service reverse the rental arrangements that they now have with the owner of the property back to the previous lease arrangements they had with him before. It would be looked upon by us as a "Good Faith" gesture of a firm commitment to our community's needs. I hope the congressman will closely follow up on this situation.

The idea of Go Figure is to arrive at the figures given at the bottom and right-hand columns of the diagram by following the arithmetic signs in the order they are given (that is, from left to right and top to bottom). Use only the numbers below the diagram to complete its blank squares and use each of the nine numbers only once.

PICKS OF THE WEEK

"The Imaginarium of Doctor Parnassus" (PG-13) — Despite losing one of his major players (Heath Ledger), director Terry Gilliam has managed to create another magical film to add to his impressive list of modern classics ("Brazil," "12 Monkeys," "Time Bandits" and "The Fisher King").

The film tells the story of Doctor Parnassus (Christopher Plummer) who, thousands of years ago, makes a deal with the Devil/Mr. Nick (Tom Waits in a stellar performance) to gain immortality. Flash-forward a few hundred years and Dr. P meets a woman, falls in love and makes another deal with Mr. Nick: He will give up being immortal in exchange for youth (so he can woo his one true love). In exchange for youth, Mr. Nick demands that when Parnassus' daughter Valentina (the scrumptious Lily Cole) turns 16, she will become the property of Mr. Nick.

When Mr. Nick arrives on the eve of Valentina's 16th birthday, Parnassus makes another deal with the devil in the hopes of saving his daughter from a dark fate: The first man to seduce five souls will gain possession of the girl.

"It's Complicated" (R) — Meryl Streep, Steve Martin and Alec Baldwin star in this romcom for the middle-agers. Like most romantic comedies, the plot is a bit thin, but the performances of the actors elevate the film to something better than it could've been. Streep plays Jane, a divorcee who becomes engulfed in a love triangle between herself, her current beau (Steve Martin) and her ex

(the always awesome Alec Baldwin).

"Pride & Prejudice" (The Restored Edition) (Unrated) — Considered by many to be the definitive adaptation of Jane Austen's Regency Era romance, this 1995 BBC miniseries starring Colin Firth as the mysterious Mr. Darcy and Jennifer Ehle as the headstrong Elizabeth Bennet is finally receiving the proper DVD release it deserves.

"Why We Laugh" (Unrated) — This is one of those documentaries that sort of flew under the radar, but is definitely worth a look. From minstrel shows to Stepin Fetchit, Amos & Andy to Bill Cosby, Dick Gregory, Richard Pryor and Chris Rock, "Why We Laugh" is a celebration of the evolution of black comedy in America as told by black comedians. Definitely worth a look.

• On May 2, 1933, the modern legend of the Loch Ness Monster is born when a sighting makes local news in the Scottish Highlands. The Inverness Courier newspaper related an account of a local couple who claimed to have seen "an enormous animal rolling and plunging on the surface." Scholars of the Loch Ness Monster find a dozen references to "Nessie" in Scottish history, dating back to around 500 A.D.

THE HISTORY CHANNEL

• On April 30, 1789, George Washington is sworn in as the first American president and delivers the first inaugural speech at Federal Hall in New York City. Observers noted that Washington fidgeted while he reiterated the mixed emotions of anxiety and honor he felt in assuming the role of president.

• On April 28, 1897, the Chickasaw and Choctaw, two of the Five Civilized Tribes, become the first to agree to abolish tribal government and communal ownership of land. The other tribes soon followed, finally throwing open all of Indian Territory to white settlement.

• On May 1, 1926, Ford Motor Company becomes one of the first companies in America to adopt a five-day, 40-hour week for workers. Manufacturers all over the country soon followed Ford's lead, and the Monday-to-Friday workweek became standard practice.

Beyond Cabbage Rolls

A garden bed full of hardy greens and heads of cabbage flecked with reds and purples from the stems to the leaves is a lovely sight. I enjoy using greens and cabbage leaves in unique combinations and unusual ways.

A cabbage roll is common to the peasant cuisines of Europe and Western Asia. As those populations traveled to America, so did their recipes for cabbage rolls. The filling is traditionally ground meat — usually beef, lamb or pork — mixed with spices, rice, eggs, mushrooms or vegetables. Because the largest leaves are typically used, the smaller leaves are blanched, chopped and mixed in with the filling.

The toppings or dressings that are served with cabbage rolls are as varied as the countries where the dish has been served. In Eastern Europe and America, a tomato-based sauce is served on top of the rolls. In Sweden, cabbage rolls are served with a sweet-yet-tart lingonberry jam. In the Middle East, small, cigar-sized cabbage rolls similar to dolmas are served with yogurt and an olive oil and lemon vinaigrette seasoned with mint and garlic.

From time to time, I like to add a new element to the traditional cabbage-roll recipe. I was introduced to the many uses of the leaves and stems of the Brussels sprout plant by Carol Ann Sayles, owner of Boggy Creek Farms in Austin, Texas. She explained that the fibrous stems that are usually discarded when preparing greens should be used like celery in recipes. The stem transports the nutrients that feed the plant and are much more nutritious than celery. I've used Brussels sprout leaves as a substitute for cabbage leaves in my cabbage-roll recipe and used the sautéed stems in the filling.

If you can't find Brussels sprout leaves, there are numerous types of greens that all work well in this recipe. Swiss chard, kale and collard greens are delicious substitutes for cabbage.

Swiss Chard Rolls are a new variation on an old tradition. Try it with a ground lamb filling and don't be afraid to take your traditional recipe beyond cabbage.

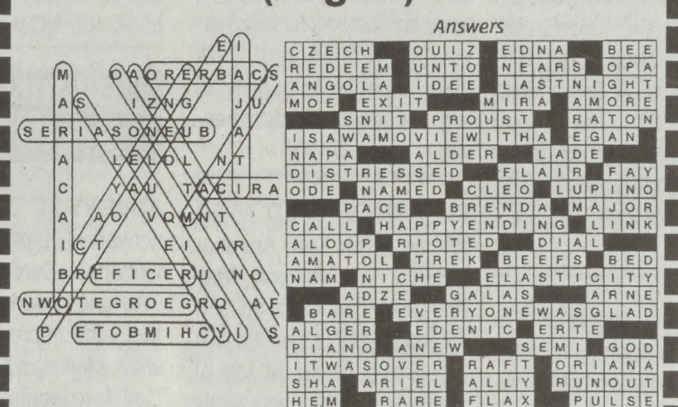

SWISS CHARD ROLLS

- 16 Swiss Chard leaves, washed, stems removed and set them aside
1 pound ground lamb, pork, beef, turkey or chicken
1 medium onion, chopped
2 teaspoons salt, divided
2 teaspoons black pepper, divided

- 2 teaspoons garlic powder, divided
1 (6 ounce) can tomato paste
1 teaspoon sugar
1/2 teaspoon nutmeg
1/2 teaspoon cayenne pepper
1/2 cups uncooked instant brown rice
2 (15-ounce) cans tomato sauce, divided
2 tablespoons Pickapeppa or Worcestershire sauce
1 cup ricotta cheese
1 teaspoon red wine vinegar
1/4 cup mild salsa
1/2 cup shredded Parmesan cheese

1. Preheat oven to 350 F. Fill a large pot with water and bring to boil. Wash greens thoroughly, remove any brown spots or blemishes, and wash the greens in cold water approximately 3 or 4 times to ensure they are clean and free of insects. Place the leaves in the boiling water. Remove from the heat,

- 1/8 milk

- 1/8 teaspoon ground nutmeg
Salt and ground black pepper
1 tablespoon margarine or butter

- 1 bunch green onions cut into 1/4-inch pieces (about 1 cup)
1 cup frozen peas

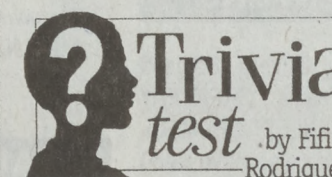

- 6 slices thinly sliced prosciutto (about 3 ounces)

1. Preheat oven to 350 F. Heat large covered saucepot of water to boiling over high heat. Add spaghetti and cook 2 minutes less than label directs.

2. Meanwhile, in medium bowl, whisk eggs, egg whites, ricotta, milk, nutmeg, 1/4 teaspoon salt and 1/4 teaspoon pepper until blended. Set aside. In oven-safe nonstick 12-inch skillet, melt margarine over medium heat. Add green onions and cook about 5 minutes or until softened. Remove skillet from heat.

3. Drain spaghetti. To green onions in skillet, add spaghetti and frozen peas; toss to combine. Pour egg mixture over pasta and arrange Prosciutto slices on top.

4. Place skillet over medium-high heat and cook 3 to 5 minutes or until edges just begin to set. Place skillet in oven and bake 15 minutes or until center is set. Slide pie onto large plate to serve. Serves 6.

Orange Is the New Black: My Year in a Women's Prison
By Piper Kerman
(Spiegel & Grau, $25)
Reviewed by Katy B. Olson

Ten thousand dollars, one West African drug lord, and a decade after her role in an international heroin trafficking ring, memoirist Piper Kerman finds herself sentenced to more than a year in a federal prison.

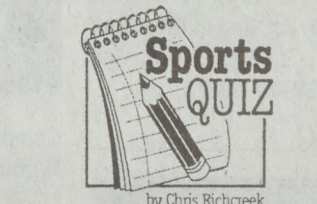

As a 23-year-old Smith College graduate, self-admittedly a "well-educated young lady from Boston with a thirst for bohemian counterculture and no clear plan," Kerman had served as a carrier, bringing tainted cash from Chicago to Paris to Brussels for a fleeting love interest. She did not know that years later, in her early 30s with a long-term boyfriend and a New York City job and apartment, the mistakes of her youth would finally catch up to her. In her account, "Orange Is the New Black: My Year in a Women's Prison," Kerman reveals the choices, characters and experiences encountered along a circuitous route from childish college grad to self-aware, independent adult.

After four years of routine and rigorous academics, Kerman longed for the extraordinary, for something different and dangerous. She befriended Nora, a mysterious older woman used to "throwing money around in a way that got attention." After striking up a relationship with Nora, Kerman grows enthralled, and perhaps jealous of her exciting jaunts abroad: "dark, awful, scary, wild and exciting beyond belief" trips. Eventually, she agrees to carry drug money for Nora across continents.

Fast-forward: Kerman is arrested and sentenced to 13 months in a federal prison in Connecticut for her involvement in the drug ring. Kerman's account of her time in jail — the inane bureaucratic rules; the fellow female prisoners with whom she has, to her great surprise, much in common; the routine and the loneliness of seemingly endless days — is occasionally patronizing, surprisingly comic and often affecting.
